1. Between 18 July 1949 and 15 August 1949 the following Soviet military transports were observed moving south through the Hungarian border station of Zahony, allegedly en route to southeastern Hungary (Szered-Baja-Mohacs area):

|                                 |          |
|---------------------------------|----------|
| Troops                          | 190 cars |
| Anti-aircraft guns              | 10       |
| Searchlights                    | 6        |
| Radio trucks                    | 12       |
| Motor vehicles and prime movers | 40       |
| Bridge-building equipment       | 40 cars  |

2. Observers were uncertain whether the troops and material represented reinforcements for the Soviet troops already in Hungary or the arrival of new units.
